

Simply put I should have a right to be left alone. After a long day of working I do not wish to be disturbed at home by a telemarketer. I wish to have my quiet time. I should not have to be subject to turning off my phone because what if there is an emergency. Secondly, many citizens work nights and sleep during the day and the number of calls you get is insane. Since I've been on the do not call list I have not been harassed at all. This is a great law. Please do not reverse it.
